IREL is a training organization ...

Tailor-made training

The IREL designs modular training programs. Its team also mobilizes an extensive network of experts in the humanities and social sciences. Its training is adapted to the expectations and specificities of the State civil service, territorial and hospital public services, associations, private businesses and cultural organizations.

Graduate education

IREL designs and organizes two qualifying one-year programs awarded by the EPHE-PSL :

The institutional diploma in Religions, Secularism, and Societies in partnership with Sciences Po Lille offers tools for understanding religious worlds and the internal plurality within each of them as well as the philosophical and political framework of secularism.
